“I believe we need to attract a new generation of the best and brightest people to become professionals in the mortgage and finance industry.”

We all have to continue to push and make sure we have the right team, with the right people to be fast acting and fast moving in the market place. As MFAA Certified Mentors™ we are at the forefront of innovation, fostering a culture of excellence, which provides any new entrant into our industry a greater chance of success.

Boris, a finance advisor with e-Financial Freedom, demonstrates a real passion for property investment finance. By adopting a financial planning approach to all transactions, you can experience an authentic experience grounded by honesty, integrity and lots of fun.

Whether you are new to the finance industry or looking for a career change into mortgage broking, you deserve a smooth and personable transition with a tailored plan to suit your personal goals and career aspirations.

Drawing on his 15 years' experience in real estate and finance, working with Boris will help you develop the skills to nurture professional relationships, define your brand and establish your long-term financial security. You will have the opportunity to expand into commercial and development funding, financial planning and property, thus developing the skills and experience to become the ultimate financial services professional.

“Your clients trusted advisor.”
