After a diverse career in the banking industry working for the major banks, Jaka entered the broking space and has since provided clients with the highest level of professionalism and expertise through his Limitless Group brand.

His Fulfilment comes from educating individuals around their financial awareness, helping them understand where they are, how they got there and ultimately, helping them realise their full potential and possibilities for the road ahead.

With over 10 years' experience, Jaka has proven himself to help others realise their full potential by eliminating financial challenges and creating greater opportunities.

Jaka prides himself on being the market leader in assisting new-to-industry brokers in growing their businesses into strong, diverse and sustainable brokerages. His innovative approach to mentoring means that you should always be able to reach at least one of us in the event you require assistance, whether it be for scenario support, escalations, or sales and business coaching.

Under his mentorship, he aims to have brokers create a profitable and successful business that compliments the lifestyle they want to live.
